ethics by design

Pure Pod creates contemporary, stylish, ethical clothing with an urban influence. Our innovative, versatile ranges are created for the design loving, conscious consumer. All ranges for women and men are made from high quality, eco friendly and sustainable fabrics including bamboo, organic cotton, hemp, soy and silk.

Whether urban or town dwellers, we provide a design based, high quality, Australian made product with sustainability as its backbone from conception through to a finished product.

The clothing industry produces large amounts of wastage from the development process through to production.

In every aspect of our business, we look for new ways of doing things sustainably for the good of the environment. We will continue to strive for more environmentally safer ways of manufacturing and packaging our products.

We are working hard to make our manufacturing footprint sustainable and cleaner for our future generations.

Please enjoy!
